

Promoting Good Attendance

All Winter Long

WHAT CAN PARENTS DO?

Every winter, bad weather — snow, slush, freezing temperatures or even heavy rains — can present challenges to getting children to school. So do the colds, fevers and earaches that often come with the winter months. Students might also have to stay home or quarantine due to Covid-19.

1. Develop back up plans for getting your children to school in bad weather.

- a. Check to see who can give your children a ride to school if you aren't able to take them or the bus doesn't arrive.
- b. Form a "walking school bus" with other families to get students to school safely. Learn how to form a walking school bus here <http://www.walkingschoolbus.org/>.
- c. Join other families to clear snow from the sidewalks closest to the school.
- d. Tell school administrators about transportation challenges and ask if they have plans for transporting students.

2. Keep your children healthy.

- a. Maintain a regular bedtime and morning routine.
- b. Ensure students eat a good breakfast every morning or check to see if your school serves breakfast.
- c. Ensure your children have their vaccinations and visit their primary care physician each year.
- d. Stress hand washing, particularly in the winter months. Send your children to school with a small bottle of hand sanitizer.
- e. If your children seem anxious about going to school, ask teachers, school counselors and parents for advice on how to make your children feel comfortable and excited about learning.
- f. If you are concerned your children may have Covid-19, call your school for advice.

3. Keep your children engaged in learning if they cannot attend school in person.

- a. Ask your teacher or school for resources that you can use at home to keep your children learning, including computer or internet access and online learning platforms.
- b. Identify who can support your children's learning at home, especially if you must go to work.
- c. Encourage your children to call classmates and stay connected to the teacher to find out about what they missed.
